Publication Tells of Changes For New Autos

FLEET OWNER, a McGraw-Hill publication about automobiles, comes out and talks about the new 1958 automobiles which aren't out yet.

"Four makes will be basically new and nine will be drastically restyled—but most of the major changes will be hidden under the hood," the magazine says.

There'll be a few more V-8 engines. In fact, 84.3 per cent of the new cars will be V-8s; but one maker is reported to be planning a bigger push on six-cylinder models to counter the sale of foreign cars. Fuel economy is the reason. Premium fuels will be needed by about 49.25 per cent of the cars produced in 1958, the magazine states.

Average crankcase capacity will be up almost a quart, from 4.8 to 5.6, the magazine says, and adds: "The regular 1,000-mile drains may be a thing of the past. Not one manufacturer recommended it. Based on production figures, 39.5 per cent of the cars call for 2,000 mile changes, seven per cent for 3,000-mile changes and 52.4 per cent for more than 3,000 miles between changes."

Here are other things Fleet Owner says: Automatic transmissions will be offered as optional equipment on 83.3 per cent of the cars. They will be standard on 15.6 per cent and the manufacturers of the remaining one per cent are still undecided.

Average fuel tank capacity will be 20 gallons, and most fuel will go in from the rear.

Twenty models will offer fuel injection as an option. None has said it will be standard equipment.

Average coolant capacity for cars will be 19.8 quarts, up about one quart from 1957. With puncture proof tires on the market, many models will come out with just four tires and no room for a spare. Only 9.7 per cent of the new cars will have 15-inch tires, the rest 14 inches.

Power brakes will be standard on about six per cent of new cars, power steering standard on 10.5 per cent.

"Despite all the new directions in styling and construction," Fleet Owner says, "one part can be counted on to remain—the fin. There may be some modifications, but it will still be around."

BIGGER BETTER DEPT.—Mrs. Willard St. John of Horseshoe community came in the office Saturday beaming proudly. She was holding in her hand a big egg, one which we weighed right here at the office, and it came to four and one-half ounces.

Mrs. St. John said her hens had laid several big ones but she believed this one was the biggest.

The hen, she said, was a Hampshire, part New Hampshire Red and part White Leghorn.

Evansville Youth Is Electrocuted

EVANSVILLE, Ind. (AP)—Jerry L. Ireland, 18, an Air Force private on leave, was accidentally electrocuted Monday as he attempted to aid a motorist who was stalled in the rain.

American Youth Warned Against Trip to Red China

MOSCOW (AP)—The United States embassy sent an official to the Youth Festival village today to warn Americans against joining Communist China's free junket to Peiping Wednesday.

But it appeared that close to 50 American youths intended to go through with the trip despite the State Department ban. By this morning, 46 had handed in their passports or their names.

U. S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson kept himself available at the embassy to explain the situation personally to any of the American youths who may have had doubts about their country's position.

At the same time, it was decided to send a consular official out to the American delegation's quarters in festival village. He carried information sheets laying down the official American position.

This might produce a few withdrawals, but it appeared that at least 40 Americans were determined to undertake the trip, the first organized American tour ever conducted in Red China.

The tour members leave Wednesday aboard a trans-Siberian special train. The trip to Peiping takes eight days.

Gesture of Friendship

Auto Dealer Hospitalized, 10 Rivals Help Operate Business

GALESBURG, Ill. (AP)—Henry Brown's rival automobile dealers today opened a six day sale — of Brown's cars.

In the advertisements for their own agencies they carried a line saying "See Brownie First."

Brown, 55, is in St. Mary's hospital recovering from a heart attack.

His 10 rivals have taken over direction of Brown's business in a "gesture of friendship, we want to help Brownie out."

The rivals bought a full page advertisement in the Galesburg Register-Mail Monday announcing the sale and promising that representatives of the rival agencies would be on hand to handle Brown's business.

Brown operates an Oldsmobile agency. A Lincoln-Mercury man and a De Soto man worked all day today at Brown's agency selling Brown's cars.

"We'll alternate during the six-day sale," the Lincoln-Mercury man, Gene Bragg, said, "two of us at a time spending the day at Brownie's. Nights we'll all be there."

"We're just helping a buddy out," Bragg said. "He'd do the same thing for us."

"Our whole idea is just what you'd do for a neighbor who got laid up. Your wife would probably go over and do the laundry and you'd mow the lawn."

Brown has been in the automobile business here for 20 years. His wife died in 1948. He has four sons — one working in Paris, France, another in the Marines, and two in school who are too young to run the business.

"We'll try to move as many cars for him as we can," Bragg said. "We'd like to do a month's work for him in a week so things will be in good shape if he can come back to work."

Bragg said Brown had lost his sales manager recently and had been running his business pretty much single-handed. Brown has been in poor health for some time and the added work probably helped bring on the attack which hospitalized him this week, Bragg said.

Cuts Progress Payments to Big Contractors

Action Follows Order to Cut Costs, Personnel

WASHINGTON (AP)—Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson swung his economy ax at the defense industry again today.

He ordered a 5 per cent reduction in the "progress payments" made by the government to big defense contractors on aircraft, missiles and other military items which require a long time to manufacture.

The order, effective Sept. 1, reduces these installment payments to 70 per cent of total costs, or 85 per cent, instead of the present 90 per cent, of direct labor and material costs.

Wilson said the move will give contractors "greater incentives for economy" when more of their own money is involved in producing defense equipment.

The new order will not effect small business suppliers who will continue to be eligible for progress payments of up to 75 per cent of total costs or 90 per cent of labor and material costs.

Wilson's decision was the latest in a series of drastic measures to cut military spending down to the budget ceiling of $8 billion dollars in the fiscal year which began July 1.

Monday he ordered the Air Force and civilian contractors working on Air Force equipment and projects, except missiles, to cut their personnel and overhead costs 5 per cent.

The order, coming on top of a slowdown and cancellations in production of aircraft and one guided missile, is expected to force discharge of more than 100,000 aircraft industry employees.

Wilson is slashing expenses before his scheduled retirement from the top defense post, possibly late this month. He has said he wants to leave the complex affairs of the Defense Department in order for his successor.

A Defense Department spokesman could not say whether the cut in progress payments would in all cases result in reduced costs for military equipment. A reporter asked whether it might not force some manufacturers to borrow money, at high interest rates, to meet costs before the final government payments are received.

A spokesman said the department currently has paid out about four billion dollars on outstanding progress payments. On that amount, the new, lower rate would have meant a saving in current Defense Department spending—but not in long-run expenses—of about 264 million dollars, he said.

Monday's 5 per cent economy order to manufacturers left contractors the option of reducing expenses through curtailed overhead and a tighter rein on purchase of non-essential supplies.

3 Metropolitan Employees Honored For 70 Years of Combined Service

The private dining room of Nick's "45 Drive In" was the setting recently for a delightful dinner meeting of the staff of the Harrisburg office of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company, their wives and Miss Laura Raley, office secretary. The occasion was the honoring of three men whose seventy combined years of service to their fellow men, through the company of which they are employees, had entitled them to well deserved praise.

D. H. Hiller, assistant manager in charge of the Harrisburg office, and who himself will complete this year 25 years of service with Metropolitan Life, and Mrs. Hiller were host and hostess for the occasion.

Seated at the head table were Mr. and Mrs. Edgar B. Dickey of Carmi. Mr. Dickey on July 5th completed 20 years of service with the Metropolitan Life Insurance company, by so doing becoming one of the company's "Veterans," the distinction given any member of the field or clerical force of the company who attains that length of service. Mr. Dickey was presented by Mr. Hiller with the plaque from the company greeting him as one of the company's "Veterans," and also with his Veteran's pin.

The other two men particularly honored during the evening were William Zimmer of Harrisburg and Cecil Towle of Eldorado, who have each completed 25 years of service with Metropolitan Life, having attained Veteran status five years ago.

Mr. Hiller also presented, as expressions of his own esteem and appreciation, to Mr. Dickey a leather brief case with initials in gold, and to Mr. Zimmer and Mr. Towle each a Gruen wrist watch. Engraved on the back of each watch was the recipient's name, together with the numbers "32-57", signifying the beginning and completion of the 25 years. Dainty compacts were presented to the wives of the men honored for their years of service.

Other employees and wives attending were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Miley, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wundelich and Miss Raley of Harrisburg, Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Dilard of Eldorado, Mr. and Mrs. Guy C. Hill of Shawneetown and Mr. and Mrs. John Noonan of Carrier Mills.

Frank Chamness, a retired Metropolitan Life employee, and Mrs. Chamness were unable to attend the dinner because of Mrs. Chamness having fallen and suffering an injured foot. A greeting and get-well card expressing the regret of those at the dinner was signed by each one present and mailed to Mr. and Mrs. Chamness.

Actor Denies Testimony

Link Gable to Party Girl At Confidential Trial

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The biggest batch of dirty linen to date in the Confidential libel trial was hauled out Monday and it belonged to the greatest box office hero in movie history—Clark Gable.

Gable immediately denied from his Hawaii vacation spot, testimony that he had an affair with a party girl but the frank allegations set off renewed behind-the-scenes maneuvers to keep the boudoir lives of the stars out of the trial.

Both the prosecution and defense momentarily were expected to pull new tricks out of the legal hat in an attempt to compromise and prevent calling to the stand more than 100 Hollywood luminaries.

First of Bombshells

The defense has subpoenaed celebrities to tell "the truth" about their intimate off-screen lives and the prosecution is striving to circumvent the testimony.

The naming of Gable and a girl about-Hollywood as a cozy two-some having an affair while the girl, sloop-eyed Frances De Saffa, ferreted out intimate details of Gable's first marriage was the first of the expected bombshells to fall in what could be filmland's spiciest production.

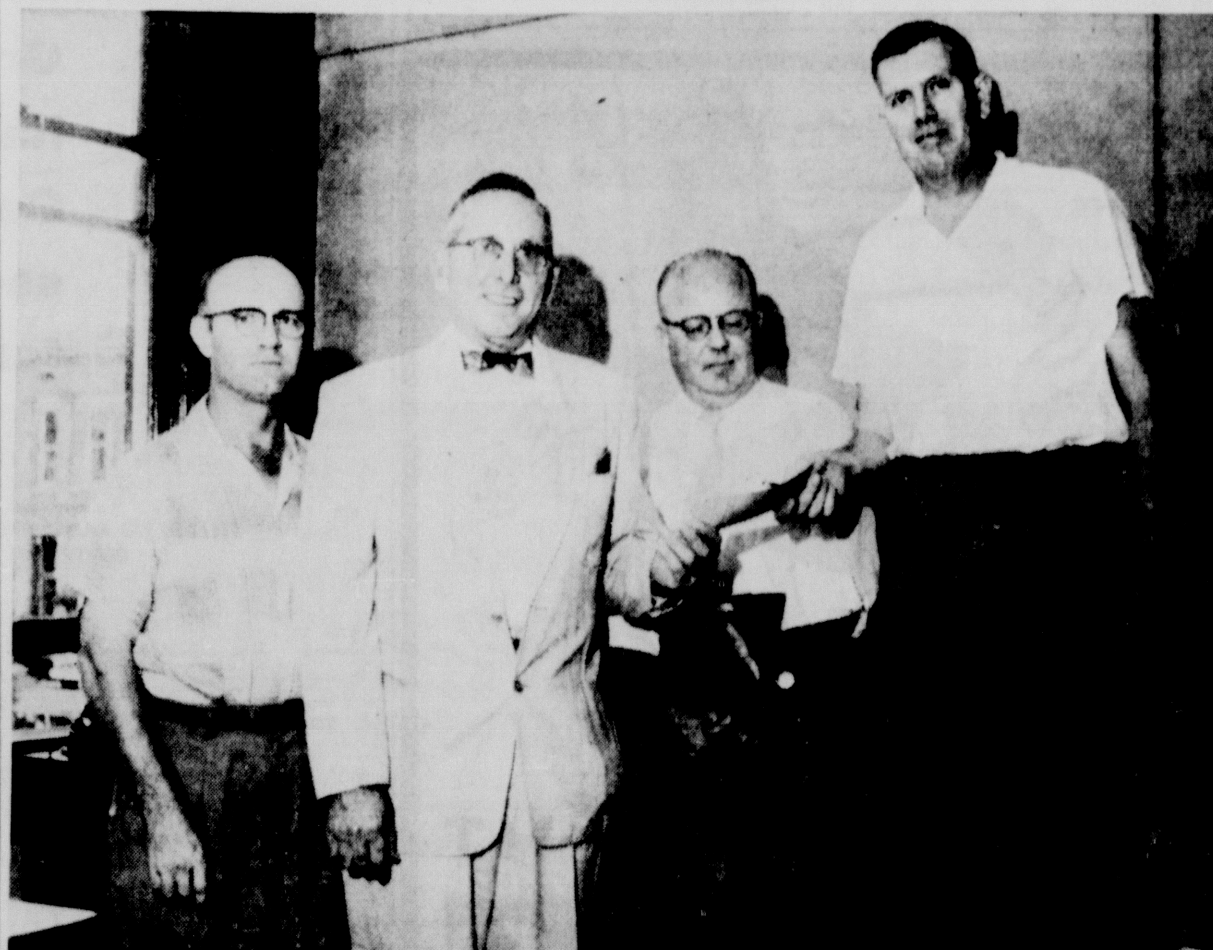

However, Gable vacationing in Hawaii with his wife denied the testimony that he had an affair with Miss De Saffa and revealed to her spicy tidbits about his first wife, drama coach Josephine Dillon. He told United Press, "To my knowledge I never met the young lady."

Desi Arnaz Named

Cuban band leader Desi Arnaz, the husband of Lucille Ball of "I Love Lucy" fame, was the second celebrity to be involved in embarrassing testimony. The actor-musician was linked with a Hollywood call girl.

It was what the prosecution had been hoping would not happen. The prosecution, with widespread support from many segments of the movie industry, originally had sought to block the trial with a compromise offer to the defense—only to have Superior Judge Herbert V. Walker announce that there would be "no deals" in his court.

The court has under advisement a defense brief calling for dismissal of the case on grounds the conspiracy to commit criminal libel—if true—was nationwide and does not fall under the jurisdiction of a California court.

Reductio ad Absurdum

An annual summertime product is the national and international beauty contests. Nothing, perhaps, could be a more apt accompaniment of the silly season.

This year's series of contests got off to a hilarious start. The "Cinderella girl" who won the title of "Miss U.S.A." turned out to have missed being a miss by two marriages—to say nothing of two children. She was promptly dethroned.

And just as the howl over this was subsiding, came the word that the grand winner of the "Miss Universe" title was a Peruvian girl who is only 17 years old—not the minimum 18 required by the contest rules. For this discrepancy the Peruvian ambassador provided the bland explanation that "Anybody in Peru who is over 17 years and six months is considered to be 18." So, "Miss Universe" was permitted to retain her crown and sceptre.

Now all we are waiting for is the "Miss America" contest in September. Wanna bet that the winner won't turn out to be a man?

A New Border

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says: Secretary of Navy Arouses Angry Protesters in California; Budget-Cutting May Be Good Political Slogan But In Practice It Hurts; People Resent Closing Of Naval Hospital.

WASHINGTON—Tall, gangling Navy Secretary Thomas S. Gates was welcoming congressmen aboard the Navy yacht "Sequoia" for a cruise down the Potomac the other evening. Gates, who stands well over six feet, had to stoop as he strolled along the glassed-in after deck.

"Mr. Secretary, can't you jack up those things a bit?" commented Rep. George Miller (D., Calif.) referring to the beams supporting the glass canopy.

"No, sir," replied Secretary Gates. "Congress won't give us any money to raise the roof."

"Why don't you get Harry Shepard to come on here?" suggested Rep. Miller, noting that Shepard is third-ranking Democrat on the House Appropriations committee. Like Miller, Rep. Shepard hails from California. "Maybe you can get Harry to put a hydraulic jack in the appropriation bill to raise those beams a little."

"No, sir," repeated Gates, a onetime Morgan banker, "he's a tough one to get any money from." "Well, I guess you're right," agreed Miller. "Harry is so short he couldn't appreciate this predicament. Why, he'd have to stand on a chair to reach those rafters."

Note—In addition to Miller, five other members of the House Armed Services committee sailed with Secretary Gates aboard the Sequoia: Overton Brooks (D., La.), Melvin Price (D., Ill.), Richard Lankford (D., Md.), James Devereux (R., Md.), and William Bray (R., Ill.).

ANGRY CITIZENS
Next day Secretary Gates flew to San Diego, held a press conference at the Admiral Kidd Club, then virtually ignored a delegation of Californians who had driven about 100 miles to urge him not to close the Corona naval hospital. It had been agreed in advance that Gates would give them 30 minutes. Instead he shook hands, posed for a photo, then, without saying a word, boarded the admiral's barge to cross the bay.

"How such a rude, arrogant individual could be appointed secretary of the Navy is one of the biggest mysteries of national party politics," exploded Mayor Francis B. Stearns of Corona, a Republican.

"They'll have trouble regaining their leadership in our traditionally-Republican county," continued the mayor. "Dozens of people traveled from Riverside, San Bernardino, and Imperial counties to talk to this man and he condescends to meet us, then brusquely brushes us off midst a swarm of rear admirals. He didn't even say goodbye."

"Fortunately the people of this country have a way of remembering occasions like this when they go to the polls."

BUDGET CUTTING HURTS
The incident illustrates what the administration is up against not merely in Southern California but all over the nation, as a result of its present economy drive.

Inside fact is that Congress didn't touch a penny of the appropriation for the Navy's Bureau of Medicine. Congressman Harry Sheppard, jokingly referred to by Secretary Gates as "the great economizer," refused to make any cuts.

"The Navy's medical problems are too intricate for us," he told colleagues. "We'll take the word of the Navy doctors."

After getting all the money it asked for, however, the Navy's Bureau of Medicine now has orders to cut below the budget requested of Congress—hence the ordered closing of the Corona hospital.

This has brought a storm of protest from local citizens, plus repeated protests from California congressmen. Back in California, congressmen have stated that the matter was taken up at the White House, which to the average person means with the President himself. They don't know that the President doesn't pay any attention to hospitals in southern California.

What happened was that Congressman Gordon McDonough (R., Calif.) was appointed by other California congressmen to take up the matter and he telephoned to ex-Congressman Jack Anderson, a White House liaison officer. He did not go to the White House. He phoned Anderson.

Busy-bee Anderson, in turn, talked to the Navy. If he took the matter of a hospital up with Eisenhower he would be in danger of getting fired. Ike never handles these things.

Anderson managed to keep the hospital open a few more weeks. However, he has 101 other problems from all over the U. S. A. which arise from budget-cutting. The closing of the Corona hospital, the canceling of guided missile orders in Los Angeles, the closing of naval blimp stations in North Carolina, all as a result of economy, are now swamping congressmen and lesser members of the White House staff.

Budget-cutting is a popular campaign slogan, but when put into actual practice it's like most surgery. It hurts.

ECONOMIZER LAUSCHE
Tousle-haired Senator Frank Lausche, ex-governor of Ohio, is rivaling Paul Douglas of Illinois in keeping an eagle eye on the taxpayer's money.

He is now casting that eye on the bill to indemnify owners of fishing vessels if their ships are seized in foreign waters. In 1954, a bill was passed indemnifying shipowners if they were fined for fishing in foreign waters, but this bill goes further.

It's aimed at benefiting Florida and Louisiana's shrimp vessels fishing off the coast of Mexico, also California tuna fishers operating off Peru, Ecuador, and Chile. The bill would indemnify fishermen for all losses including their vessels if the vessels are seized in foreign waters.

"This," says Senator Lausche, "is like telling someone that if you rob the government, the government will indemnify you."

Guests Include All Froman Children and Grandchildren

All of the children and grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. Griff Froman were present August 4 for their Golden Anniversary celebration, first, at the First Christian church, where 31 family members attended the morning worship service, sitting together, and later when 24 had dinner together, following church, at the Little Egypt cafe. Finally, 100 friends and family members participated in the open-house party from two to five o'clock in the Griff Froman home in Dorris Heights.

Out of town guests included: Lora Brashear, Robinson; Jim Froman, East St. Louis; Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Monroe, Adrian, Mich.; Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Bodnar and son, Raymond, Lansing, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Conrad and sons, Bobby and Dale, Cedar Lake, Ind.; Mr. and Mrs. Virgel Conrad and daughters, Thelma and Lois, Petersburg, Ind.; and Mr. and Mrs. Shirley Williams and daughters, Karen and Cheryl, Petersburg, Ind.

The children of Mr. and Mrs. Griff Froman, all present, were: Bernard Froman, Lansing, Ill.; Bernice McMahan, in the home; Mrs. Clarence (Belva) Aldridge; Mrs. Elmer (Gertrude) McDowell, the last two from Harrisburg; and Mrs. Harold (Beatrice) Brashear, Berwick, La.

The grandchildren, also all present were: Myron Brashear, Marvin Brashear, Nancy Brashear and Nolen Bashear, all of Berwick, La.; Gayle Froman, Griff Froman, and Terry Froman, all of Lansing, Ill.; Gary Aldridge, Roger Aldridge and Greta Aldridge, of Harrisburg.

Mrs. William Sloan Jr., and Mrs. John W. Pool, friends of the Fromans, served at the table which bore a three-tiered cake, a punch bowl and rosebud mints, and was decorated with a center of white wedding bells with the gold "50" on them, some of the many cards, and gifts.

One of the most charming events was the singing by the Peerless Quartet of West Frankfort, of a song dedicated to the honored Golden Anniversary couple.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Nations and children, Bobby and Carolyn, have returned to their home in Fomfelt, Mo., after a visit with Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Partain. Mrs. Nation is a daughter of Mrs. Partain. Other visitors the past week-end at the Partain home were Mr. and Mrs. Paul Johnson and son, Glen, of Hammond, Ind. Mrs. Johnson is a niece of Mrs. Partain. Last Thursday Mr. and Mrs. Partain accompanied Charlie Partain, who came here to attend the Partain Reunion at Marler Aug. 4, to his home in East Prairie, Mo.

present were Mrs. Minnie McDonauld, Mrs. Nellie Thaxton, and Clara Wooten. Mrs. Thaxton dismissed the meeting.

Tips on Traffic Safety
By
CHARLES F. CARPENTIER
Secretary of State

Pleasant weather conditions of summer result in a number of motorists who insist upon driving with only one arm. There are two types of these drivers, and both are dangerous.

One type protrudes the left elbow out of the window by holding to the top of the car. This may be a restful position but it is not used by a motorist who understands his obligation to use both hands for better control of steering. Also, other motorists may take it to be a signal for a right hand turn.

The other type allows his left arm to dangle from the car window. Again, a disregard for driving obligations is shown. In the case of this driver, other motorists may mistake his arm position as a signal to stop, slow down or turn.

The hazards of these two types are not limited to not having the proper control of the steering or to seriously confusing other motorists who may take the arm position to be a signal. Also, the driver risks a serious, unnecessary injury to his left arm in the event of an accident.

If you should approach a car with a one arm driver, be on the alert. It is a danger signal to you that the vehicle is not being driven properly.

SHARING HER SLACKS—There's no argument about who wears the pants in this family—there's plenty of room in there for both husband and wife. The slacks belong to Rose Price, of Washington, D. C., who wore them all by herself before losing 204 pounds in a group diet plan. Now, she can share them with her husband, Sigmund, as shown in this McCall's Magazine photo. Dr. John R. Pate, director of the Bureau of Disease Control of the District of Columbia, developed the group plan, with which he has pared off an aggregate of more than seven tons from 500 men and women.

North Gallatin Unit Schools to Register Aug. 26

Registration at all attendance centers in the North Gallatin Unit District—Ridgway high and elementary schools, New Haven and Cottonwood—will be held Monday, August 26, with a full schedule of classes on Tuesday, August 27, it has been announced by J. O. Austin, superintendent.

Facilities and all attendance centers are complete, with only three changes from last year.

Wanda Wood of Ridgway, who formerly taught at Equality, will teach the second grade at Ridgway. She succeeds Mrs. Myrtle Karber, retired.

Ruth Frances of Broughton will teach first grade at New Haven. She replaces Mrs. Verla Waller.

Attorney Joe Buter is expected to be in his office in the Pruett building again tomorrow following surgery at Barnes hospital in St. Louis, Mo., recently.

are used to repair broken objects or to hold fast materials which become unified in the process. As a result of the application of these substances we create unity out of diversity.

Almost every object in our homes and in our material existence is made of a variety of pieces of material held together by some cohesive method and substance.

Love is the greatest cohesive in the world. Love is more powerful in creating social unity and spiritual unity than any other force.

Yet we frequently allow indifference and hatred to dissolve this important element of life.

We must eliminate these spiritual solvents so that our lives do not fall apart from lack of love.

STAMPEDE AT BLUE SPRINGS.
BY GENE OLSON

THE STORY: Barney Blanchard, a federal marshal, hopes to intercept Cole Jethroe when he arrives from Chicago. Cole is the brother of Barney Jethroe who was killed some years ago. The man responsible, Pete Dorsey, was wrested from a train where he was in Blanchard's custody. Pike Ambrose, 17, who knows the town, tells Blanchard nothing will be done to Dorsey till Cole arrives.

Blanchard said, "I won't complain. Maybe that gives us some time. Why does Cole have to come on the train?"

"That's what they say. You won't get Cole on a horse."

He said, "There must be others worth talking to. We didn't cover the town last night."

"Well, there's Barney's wife."

"What about her?"

"A mighty fine woman, Lillian Jethroe. Best in town, more'n likely."

"How does she feel about Dorsey?"

"She thought a lot of Barney. You couldn't expect her to bring flowers to Dorsey's funeral, if he's got to have one."

"Would she talk to us?"

"Sure," I said. "But maybe wouldn't say much. Dan Clement's sweet on her."

"More and more, that sounds like a woman I ought to know."

Lillian lived in a good frame house Barney built her at the end of Depot St. I fretted some as we walked west. I don't think I'd made it plain to Blanchard about Lillian but I didn't see how I could without telling him all about me and Pa's dying and the rest of it. Didn't seem like he'd want to hear all that. I sure didn't want to get Lillian in trouble. But she might hear things from Dan that would help us. If I was going to work with Blanchard, I couldn't hold back to protect anybody, even Lillian.

I rapped and Lillian came to the door. She acted surprised to see me but pleased, too. She saw Blanchard then and knew about him right away. Worry came on her face.

"It's been a long time, Pike," she said. Her voice was like water sliding over rocks, low and smooth and with a lot of whisper. I almost told her so one time but couldn't get up the nerve. She said, "Please come in."

"Howdy, Mrs. Jethroe," I said. "This here's Barney Blanchard. He's a United States marshal. We want to talk about . . . Pete Dorsey."

"I was afraid of that. How do you do, Mr. Blanchard? Come in."

She held the door open for us and we went into her parlor. I smelled eggs frying in the kitchen and remembered I hadn't taken any breakfast. I could hear Dick, Lillian's five-year-old, rattling a spoon on a plate in the kitchen.

Lillian said, "I'll have to take care of Dick. Please sit down."

She went into the kitchen. She wore a black dress again. Her hair was black and shiny and neat. I always noticed the smoothness of her skin and the live color in her face. She wore plain black a lot and folks in town thought it was to mourn Barney. I had a different notion. She knew she didn't need a fancy dress to get attention. Must have been a lot of lovely wives around town who wished she'd get married or move away or both. I know there were husbands who wished they were footloose every time they saw her walk down Chicago St. The only man who came to see her with courting in mind was Dan Clement. He was enough to scare off the rest.

Lillian came back, carrying Dick. Dick could walk but not very fast. He wore a leather brace on his left leg and he was a fine-looking four-year-old, with curly, yellow hair that he got from Barney's side and a mighty good disposition. Dick hurt his leg when he was two, just after he started to walk, when he was playing around Barney's horse in the barn and got stepped on.

Lillian said, "I . . . I can't help Mr. Blanchard. What happened last night was terrible. I'm sorry it happened but I can't help."

Blanchard stood and folded his arms and looked out the window. "Dorsey was afraid something would happen here because of what happened to your husband, Mrs. Jethroe."

"I understand that. But . . . I just can't help."

Blanchard turned from the window. "I know the Clements got Pete."

Lillian said, "Then why do you need me?"

"Knowing doesn't get Dorsey back," Blanchard said. "I need more information."

Lillian looked at me again, her eyes said, "Pike . . ."

"I'm sorry, ma'am," I said, feeling bad. "I told Harney I'd help. I don't want you to get into trouble but I thought, well, on account of Dan, you might know."

"Pike . . . are you afraid?"

"No," I said, lying some.

"Well, I am," Lillian said. "I'm afraid. How do you get over being afraid?"

"You don't," I said. "You just go ahead anyway."

Lillian stared at Blanchard and rubbed the back of Dick's hand. "In times of trouble, Mr. Blanchard, you think about the importance of things I've been thinking. I see now that the town means little or nothing and even what happens to me doesn't really matter. But . . ."

She looked down at Dick's yellow hair. Blanchard headed for the door. "All right," he said. "Thanks just the same, Mrs. Jethroe." (To Be Continued)

Syria Charges U.S.-Led Plot

DAMASCUS, Syria (U.P.) — The government announced shortly before midnight Monday that Syrian military authorities had discovered an American-led plot to overthrow the present regime.

The statement said the plot was engineered by the United States in cooperation with former Syrian dictator Adib Shishkly, Col. Ibrahim Hussein, the Syrian military attaché in Rome, and the outlawed Social Nationalist Party.

The government said the conspirators were told the United States would grant 400 million dollars in aid to Syria to change the present regime and make peace with Israel.

Shishkly was overthrown in March, 1954 and took up exile in Lebanon. He had come to power in 1949 when he overthrew the Syrian government to set up the 16th regime since the French left Syria in 1946. The government did not state his present whereabouts.

A U. S. embassy spokesman here labeled the statement a "complete fabrication."

French War I Verdun Vets Give Up Pensions To Help Economic Fight

PARIS (U.P.) — War veterans who fought at Verdun 40 years ago gave up their veterans pensions today to help France fight a new battle on the economic front.

Members of the Legion des Milles (Legion of One Thousand) were the youngest—almost boys—who fought as volunteers in World War I.

In a letter to Premier Maurice Bourgès-Maunory today they wrote, "We did not fight to get pensions, but only for the ideal and love of our fatherland."

Bourgès-Maunory asked all the hundreds of thousands of Frenchmen from both World Wars who can afford it to waive the pensions they received as fighting men, prisoners of war and war cripples.

Mathieu Rites at Eldorado Wednesday

The funeral of August J. "Gus" Mathieu, 60, who died in Eldorado Sunday, will be held at 10 a. m. Wednesday in the Wolf Creek Primitive Baptist church. Rev. T. Leo Dodd will officiate and burial will be in the Wolf Creek cemetery.

The body will lie in state at the Martin funeral home until funeral time.

GOP Leaders See No Compromise On Rights Bill

WASHINGTON (U.P.) — Republican congressional leaders said at the White House today that President Eisenhower definitely will not compromise on the civil rights bill in return for more favorable congressional treatment of his foreign aid program.

After a lengthy meeting between the President and GOP congressional leaders, Sen. William F. Knowland denied in blunt terms a report that the chief executive may be willing to accept a compromise on civil rights "if he gets more of what he wants on foreign aid."

"The President is not trading the constitutional rights of any American to vote for any piece of legislation," the Senate Republican leader said. "And also, the national defense of our country should not be put on the trading block."

House GOP Leader Joseph W. Martin Jr. said that although House Republicans will fight to pass "a real bill" at this session, it may be better to recess Congress or have the President call both houses back into special session in November rather than accept the Senate version of the bill.

Martin added that the idea of a possible special session was entirely his and was not discussed this morning with the President.

He said he believed the best chance of changing the Senate bill, particularly the administration opposed jury trial amendment, lay in sending the measure to a House-Senate conference. Democrats oppose this, saying it could result in a deadlock preventing passage of any civil rights measure.

Burglars Take Dynamite from Mine Warehouse

MARION, Ill. (U.P.) — Burglars broke into a warehouse at a strip mine near here Monday night and made off with more than 1,000 pounds of dynamite, several cases of dynamite caps, a number of cutting torches, oxygen tanks and other equipment.

Williamson County sheriff's officers said the men literally "cleaned out" the small building where the equipment was stored at the Leon Skelly strip mine a mile northeast of Marion.

Investigators believed several men were involved in the burglary because of the amount and size of the equipment taken.

Sheriff's deputy Rex Rowland said the job looks like the work of professionals.

"Those men knew what they were doing," he said.

Authorities said the men broke a window to get in the warehouse. They believe the men carried the loot away in a truck. Several truck tire prints were discovered near the building.

Kilts worn by the famous Greician Evzones sometimes contain more than 40 yards of material.

Senate Approves Bill to Limit Tax Write-Offs

WASHINGTON (U.P.) — The Senate has approved a bill to sharply limit the issuance of rapid tax write-off privileges for the next 28 months, then end the program entirely on Dec. 31, 1959.

The Senate, which acted by voice vote Monday wrote the provision into a House bill to grant tax relief on money received as a result of breach of contract suits in the courts.

The measure now goes back to the House which was expected to give swift approval to the Senate action.

Under the program set up originally during World War II, the government permitted part of the cost of essential defense facilities to be written off for tax purposes over five years instead of the usual 20 to 25 years.

Woman is Arrested

Deputy Sheriff Charles Donelson yesterday picked up Mae Kauble of Eldorado for Hamilton county authorities, who came after her and took her to McLeansboro to face fraudulent check charges.

Await Developments

AFL-CIO Takes No Action to Discipline Carpenter Chief

CHICAGO (U.P.) — The AFL-CIO Executive Council decided today to take no action now to discipline Carpenters' Union President M. A. Hutcheson, who pleaded the Fifth Amendment when questioned by Senate investigators.

AFL-CIO President George Meany said the council voted to withhold action to "await further developments" in the case. Hutcheson refused to tell a Senate Public Roads subcommittee whether he shared in a quick profit in an Indiana highway scandal.

Hutcheson, who is attending council sessions at the four-day meeting, did not state his position verbally before his fellow council members.

Customs Agents Seize Cache of Arms, Munition

MIAMI (U.P.) — Customs agents early today seized a huge cache of rifles, machine guns and 50,000 rounds of ammunition believed destined for insurgents camped in the Cuban mountain jungles.

Two men were arrested and authorities hunted three more believed involved in a plot to ship arms to Cuban rebel leader Fidel Castro, who is trying to overthrow Cuban President Fulgencio Batista.

Charles Wyatt, supervisor of customs in Miami, identified the men arrested as Gil De Gibaja, 46, an American citizen of Cuban descent living in Miami, and Alfredo C. Z. Gonzalez, 38, who said he is a farmer. He told officers he was from Havana.

The men were charged with violation of the neutrality act and jailed pending further action.

Wyatt said agents found 500 rifles, 10 machine guns, both .30 and .50 caliber, around 50,000 rounds of ammunition and possibly a bazooka in De Gibaja's home here.

Florida highway patrolmen G. M. Gracy and Pat Edgemond spotted the men in a car hauling a trailer south of Miami and recognized the car as one described in a statewide alert.

Wyatt said customs agents called to the scene found a box of rifles and a box of ammunition in the trailer.

De Gibaja, a beautician, agreed to let agents search his home and it was there that they found the bulk of the illegal arms, Wyatt said.

De Gibaja, Wyatt said, denied knowing the weapons and ammunition were in the boxes, saying he thought they contained "farming tools."

Wyatt said neither of the men arrested would admit knowing about the arms or what they were to be used for.

Mrs. J. H. Gregory Dies at Eldorado

Mrs. Georgia Ann Gregory, 82, of 917 Benton street, Eldorado, died in her home at 8:15 a. m. today. She was the widow of J. H. Gregory. She is survived by her son, Dr. J. H. Gregory Jr., of Benton Harbor, Mich., and her daughter, Mrs. Kenneth Burlison, Eldorado. She has one surviving brother, W. D. White of Chicago, three grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

The body will lie in state at the Martin funeral home in Eldorado until the funeral at 2 p. m. Thursday. The funeral will be held in the Eldorado Methodist church, where she was a member. Rev. A. B. Clodfelter will officiate and burial will be in the Cave-in-Rock cemetery.

At Rackets Hearing

Doria Claims Honesty as Probers Challenge Financial Statement

WASHINGTON (U.P.) — Former union official Anthony J. Doria loudly proclaimed his honesty today before Senate investigators who challenged his personal financial statement.

Doria, former secretary-treasurer of the old AFL United Auto Workers, declared that "I've always been honest in handling union funds."

But the Senate Rackets Committee appeared skeptical about his accounting of his own finances. Doria's declarations and the committee's records produced these highlights of the former unionist's second day of testimony:

—Doria kept large sums of union money, unaccounted for, in a box hidden under papers in an office storeroom. He said the union president, Earl D. Heaton, knew about the cache.

—His financial statement, as analyzed by committee investigator Carmine S. Bellino, would have meant that Doria, his wife, and three children lived on an average of $2,000 a year in the 1948-1952 period.

—Doria rejected that suggestion explaining that he had been working "on the road" for years prior to 1948, during which time the union paid his expenses and his personal funds went largely untouched.

—Doria said that on one occasion he left in the storeroom box $4,000 in cash which belonged to a mining venture in which he was interested. Then he left his Los Angeles headquarters on a trip taking a union check book on which he drew checks to the mining company. The checks, he said, were "already covered by the cash which I left in the box."

—He conceded that he checked out $130,000 in union funds to himself in October, 1955. But he said he did that to keep the union treasury from becoming "tied up" by a court order, on the eve of a convention, by an opposing political faction.

—In a fight with that faction he obtained approval of a plan which would have given 186 additional convention votes to his own group. That was done, he said "to obtain insurance" that his group would not be unseated in convention maneuvering.

He insisted that "there was no stacking of the convention," as charged by one previous witness. Doria said all the moves were made "legitimately."

The $130,000 was returned to the treasury, he said, after the rival faction had been routed at the convention.

Investigate Cause Of Divorcee's Death

CARROLLTON, Ill. (U.P.) — Authorities today investigated the possibility of murder in the death of Mrs. Betty McGee, 29, a divorcee whose body was found lying along U. S. 67 near here.

Greene County Sheriff Fred Ballard reported a St. Louis man who had been seen with Mrs. McGee in a White Hall restaurant shortly after midnight Monday was held at St. Louis for questioning.

The sheriff identified him as Clifton Melton, 23, St. Louis, and said St. Louis police had arrested him at Ballard's request for questioning in connection with Mrs. McGee's death.

Seize Record Number Stills

NEW YORK (U.P.) — More and more people seem to be switching to moonshine.

Liquor industry spokesmen report that a record number of illegal liquor stills were seized by law enforcement officers last year.

According to Licensed Beverage Industries Inc.—the public relations arm of the industry—a total of 25,608 such stills were confiscated in 1956. This compares with 23,717 seized in 1955.

The report said that illicit still output last year resulted in an estimated tax loss of one billion dollars.

To Draft 7,000 In October

WASHINGTON (U.P.) — The Defense Department has issued a 7,000-man draft call for the Army in October — the smallest monthly call since April, 1956.

The Army took 8,000 draftees in September and 11,000 in August. From April thru July the monthly draft call was 13,000.

The reduced draft calls reflect Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson's recent order to trim military strength by 100,000 men by next Jan. 1.

Wilson told his news conference last Wednesday that he expected draft calls to level off at 7,000 or 8,000 men a month.

Herrin Official Refuses to Resign

HERRIN, Ill. (U.P.) — William Grindle, Illinois state senator and Herrin city alderman who is the center of a controversy questioning the legality of holding the two jobs, said Monday night he will not resign as city alderman unless a court tells him to.

At a City Council meeting Monday night, Mayor Fred Henderson met with council members behind closed doors to discuss the problem. After the caucus they announced that they intend to write their bonding companies and ask them whether Grindle can legally hold the two jobs.

If the bonding companies rule that he is not legally seated as an alderman, Mayor Henderson said he will ask the court for a "friendly opinion" in the case.

Grindle has been told by Illinois Atty. Gen. Latham Castle that the jobs are "incompatible." On the other hand, Thomas Matthews, a legal representative for the Illinois Municipal League, said the jobs are compatible, and it is permissible to hold them both.

"Due to the fact that there are two conflicting opinions, and due to a lack of a court opinion, and no parallel case to mine, I'm doing nothing," Grindle said.

"As of right now, I don't intend to resign unless there is a court decision," he said.

HEADING FOR MONEY?—Hickory Smoke, John Simpson handling the sulky, is one of the major three-year-old trotters preparing for the Hambletonian, the $100,000 classic of harness racing, Aug. 27 at Du Quoin, Ill. Hickory Smoke was the two-year-old of 1956.

By BILL MELTON

Art "Butch" Kaha, Cairo high school's all-star football star of 1956, will enroll at the University of Illinois.

Kaha was looked on with favor by many universities. A big man, more than 200 pounds, he also is very fast. He played fullback for Cairo and with his weight and speed is considered an unusually fine prospect for college ball.

Kaha and Lindell Lovellette, Eldorado's all-star of two seasons ago, were strong rivals but also close friends in high school and it is said that Lovellette gave Kaha a fine selling job on the U. of I.

Cub fans in this area, with nothing much to yell about since the World Series days of 1945, have been enjoying the baseball season to the utmost the past week.

A good Cub fan is also a Cardinal hater. So even though the Cub winning streak went sour following the three straight at the expense of St. Louis, the fact that the Cards lost three more and dropped away back in the pennant chase was sufficient to keep the Cub followers smiling.

Cub fans who hadn't been seen or heard from in years were walking down main street last week and proudly stating they were Cub followers.

One Cardinal fan in Eldorado told me "They (Cub fans) even carried the newspapers around with them. I had a chance to read about the Card-Cub games at least a 100 times every day."

Bill Redden, Crab Orchard high school coach the past four years, has resigned and will coach Junior high basketball at Roxana next season. He is an older brother of Jim Redden, assistant coach at Eldorado high school.

Joe Gullidge of Marion succeeds Redden as Crab Orchard high school coach.

Carrier Mills' high school basketball schedule has been completed with the addition of Anna to the list.

Both schools needed another game to fill out a 20-game schedule and each preferred to play at home. However, an agreement has been reached to play at Anna, but the exact date hasn't been set.

Coach A. L. Willis stated at Carrier Mills last week.

Skaggs, Social Brethren, Pankey's, McKinley Baptist Win Kiwanis Games

Skaggs Pharmacy pelted Ridgeway, 24-10, Social Brethren defeated McKinley Baptist, 15-14, Pankey's Bakery downed Sahara Coal, 7-3, and McKinley Baptist edged Galatia, 2-1, in Kiwanis games played Monday.

Wright had five hits in as many times at bat as Skaggs beat Ridgeway, 24-10. Rose and Betz had three hits and C. Meadows and C. McConnell hit safely twice for the winners. Abell had three hits for the losing Ridgeway team.

Social Brethren scored two runs in the last inning to come from behind and win over McKinley, 15-14. For the winners Simpson had three hits and Sweat, Hall, Bennett, Owens, Shewmake and Pankey hit safely once. Hefner, Kuppert and Davis had three safeties each for the losers, and Donelson and Chambers had two hits.

Clark twirled a one-hitter and struck out 11 batters to lead Pankey's to a 7-3 victory over Sahara. For the winners Yarber tripled and singled, and D. Biggs, Logan, Clark and York hit safely once. D. Pickford had the lone Sahara hit.

Syars and Woolard tangled in a classy pitchers' duel with Syers coming out on top as McKinley beat Galatia, 2-1. Syers gave up only one hit, walked three, hit one and struck out seven. Woolard allowed two safe blows, gave up three bases on balls and fanned eight. Hefner and Pavelonis doubled for McKinley, and Yarber blasted a long single for Galatia.

Fewer Home Runs in Majors

NEW YORK (AP)—Major league home run production is off 6.18 per cent this year with only six of the 16 teams showing an increase over their totals at a corresponding point of the 1956 season.

A United Press survey revealed today that the National League's sluggers have hit 4.4 per cent fewer homers this year and that American League home run output is off 8.2 per cent. The figures are based on 441 games played in the NL and 439 in the AL both this season and last.

The league-leading Milwaukee Braves, the St. Louis Cardinals, the Philadelphia Phillies and the New York Giants show increases in the National League but only the Kansas City Athletics and Boston Red Sox are hitting more homers than last year in the AL.

The Braves and Cincinnati Redlegs top the majors with 136 home runs each. That figure represents an increase of eight homers for the Braves compared to their first 110 games in 1956 while it means a loss of 22 for the Redlegs, who hit 158 in their first 110 games last year.

The most amazing increase in the majors has been accomplished by the Athletics, who have increased their home run production by 55 per cent. In 108 games last season the Athletics hit only 79 homers—45 fewer than they hit in their first 108 games this year!

The world champion New York Yankees—long synonymous with the home run—have dropped off a surprising 24.2 per cent in homer production. They had hit 149 in 110 games last year but show only 113 this year for the same number of games. At that, the Athletics are the only team which has hit more.

Williams, Mantle in Close Contest for Batting Title; 5-Man Race in National L.

By United Press

Ted Williams' personal duel with Mickey Mantle and a five-man battle for the National League batting championship take over the spotlight today when the major league pennant races resume.

The races themselves were shoved somewhat into the background with both the New York Yankees and Milwaukee Braves riding the crest of 5½-game leads over their closest pursuers. Both have reached a point where the team they have most to fear is themselves.

The various contenders for the batting titles, however, seem to have just begun to fight.

The American League struggle is the more spectacular because Williams, the Boston Red Sox' 39-year-old perfectionist, and Mantle, the Yankees' 25-year-old nature boy, seem destined to fight it out in the rarified atmosphere of 400. When they face each other in Boston tonight, Williams will start with an eight-point edge—.387 to .379—and it could be that the eventual winner will have to hit .400.

Williams has been hitting at an amazing .500 clip since the July 11 All-Star Game and there are no signs that he will taper off sharply in the remaining 44 games of the season. He is gunning for his fifth batting title with an average that he has topped only once in a full season—in 1941 when he hit .406.

Mantle, meanwhile, has been staging a spectacular drive of his own with a .565 average for his last 14 games. He is gunning for the unprecedented feat of winning two triple crowns in succession and with 123 walks is a good bet to wipe out Babe Ruth's season mark of 170.

Defending champion Hank Aaron of the Milwaukee Braves is the current National League leader at .338 with 36-year-old Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals next at .332, shortstop Dick Groat of the Pittsburgh Pirates third at .330 and Willie Mays of the New York Giants and Frank Robinson of the Cincinnati Redlegs tied for fourth at .329.

Groat, Mays and Robinson have been the "hot" hitters of the league for the last three weeks ranging from Groat's .365 to Robinson's .420 over that span and Groat and Mays have the advantage of not having to worry about a pennant race. Aaron and Robinson will be facing each other in Cincinnati tonight. Musial plays an afternoon game in Chicago, Groat and the Pirates are at Philadelphia and the Giants and the Dodgers entertain the Brooklyn Dodgers at the Polo Grounds.

Complete Carrier Mills Recreation Summer Program

The Carrier Mills summer recreation program has been completed with playoffs finished in three baseball leagues for boys.

In the Major League playoff, the American Legion Post 364 defeated Coca-Cola three games out of five, with the Legion winning the final, 2-1.

In the Minor League playoff Pankey Gas defeated Fife Insurance three straight.

In the Midget League playoff Martin's defeated Dairy Brand.

The summer recreation program ran for two months and about 80 boys from ages 6 through 15 took part in the games. Wednesdays were set aside for girls' days and about 15 participated.

A. L. Willis, high school coach, and Ron Culbreth, grade school coach, were supervisors for the program.

They and others who worked to set up the summer program wish to express their appreciation for the financial support of all who contributed to the project for the boys and girls in Carrier Mills.

Chalky Wright, Former Boxing Champion, Drowns in Bathtub

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Police today listed the death of Albert (Chalky) Wright, 45, former world featherweight boxing champion, as an accidental drowning in the bathroom of his mother's home.

Officers said Wright, who suffered from a heart condition, apparently fell in the bathtub Monday. Efforts to revive him by a fire department rescue squad failed.

Wright, a native of Durango, Mexico, launched his boxing career in 1937. He won the featherweight crown in an 11th-round knockout over Joey Archibald on Sept. 11, 1941 and lost the title to Willie Pep on Sept. 29, 1944.

IMRF Employees to Vote on Plan to Co-Ordinate With Social Security

A referendum will be conducted by ballot between Nov. 1 and 25, by participating employees of the Illinois Municipal Retirement Fund to decide whether or not a plan of coverage co-ordinating the benefits of the IMR fund with those of the Federal Social Security system should be adopted.

The board of trustees of the Illinois Municipal Retirement Fund will supervise the referendum. The Fund comprises 1,700 Illinois local government bodies, and provides retirement, death, disability, widow and orphans' benefits for about 30,000 municipal employees, including non-teacher personnel of schools.

A booklet explaining the features of the plan of coverage and giving comparisons between the present and the proposed plan is now being distributed to all participating employees.

Features of the proposed plan are:

1. No employee will receive less than the present plan.

2. With few exceptions, employees will receive substantially higher total benefits than under the present plan.

3. The plan gives sufficient retroactive coverage to make social security survivor benefits immediately available, and in most instances, to provide unreduced social security retirement benefits for older employees. Under the present Federal Social Security Law, retroactive coverage may be made available only if co-ordination becomes effective before the end of 1957.

4. The total rate of contributions by employees remains the same as under the present law. The present rates will include the social security contribution percentage of the first $4200 earnings.

The affirmative approval of two-thirds of all members of the Illinois Municipal Retirement Fund eligible to vote is necessary to place the proposed plan into effect. If the proposed plan is not approved, no referendum can be held on a subsequent plan until at least three years have elapsed.

LI'L ABNER

ST. LOUIS (UP) — A "rock and roll" fan shot into a crowd at a show at Kiel Auditorium Monday night and killed one spectator and wounded two others.

The killer and a woman companion who carried the gun in her purse remained at large this morning.

Dead was Clay G. Phelps, 42, of a chest wound. His niece, Mrs. Rachel Henderson, 26, was shot in the left foot. Ollie Wickerson, 43, was shot in the right leg below the knee. A woman seated nearby, Mrs. Jean Bowman, 19, suffered a back injury when Phelps fell on her.

All involved were Negroes. Witnesses told police the killer was arguing with two men across the aisle in the upper right balcony as 4,000 persons watched the "rock and roll" show. Suddenly he reached into the purse of a woman companion, drew out the gun and began firing wildly. Spectators scattered for cover.

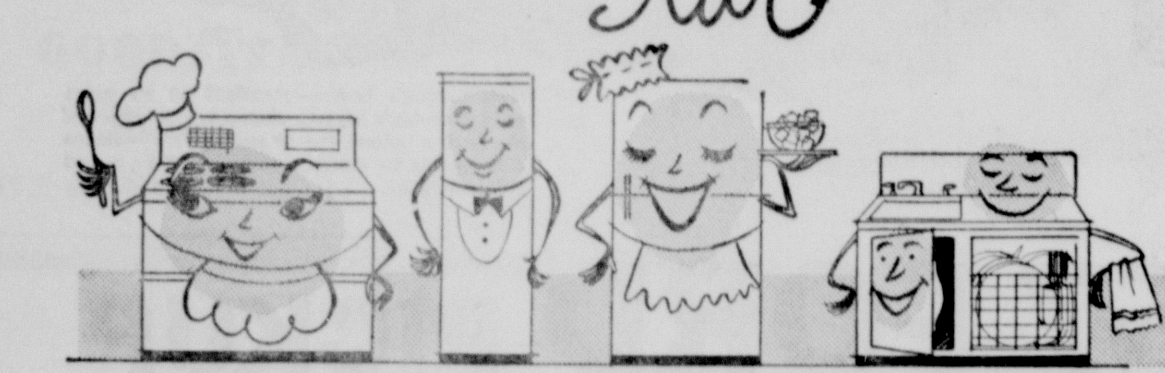

Mrs. Henderson told police she saw three or four men scuffling and shots rang out. She heard her uncle say "I'm shot," and then saw him fall into the row of seats in front of him.

Lights in the hall were turned on but in the resulting confusion the killer and his companion escaped.

The show resumed a few minutes later.

Install New Organ, Redecorate Church at Dahlgren

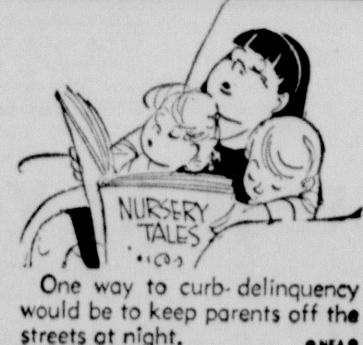

A Hammond Spinet organ has been installed in the Dahlgren Methodist church as a memorial for Mr. and Mrs. S. N. Hallowell, deceased, and Mrs. John Wesley Graham of Houston, Tex. Mr. and Mrs. Hallowell were parents of Mrs. Graham and taught Sunday school classes in the church for many years. Mrs. Hallowell was also church organist for 40 years.

The pastor, Rev. Virgil Miller, and Mrs. Miller formerly were residents of Saline county. They expressed great gratitude for this addition to the church which has been newly decorated and renovated by the friends and congregation of the church. The organ climaxed this effort.

Under the direction of D. F. Taggart, a retired St. Louis, Mo., interior decorator, living in Dahlgren, the auditorium has been decorated, the pews, altar furnishings and woodwork, refinished and new hardwood floors installed. There is also new carpeting, light fixtures and wall paper. There is a new roof and basement ceiling, accompanying new partitions, cabinets, tables and lights.
